

"The Holy See and the Holodomor is a compact, interesting, and useful collection of previously unpublished documents from the Vatican archives on the Church's understanding of the Ukrainian famine, 1932-1933, and its efforts to find a way to provide relief. The Holy See knew about and publicized the tragic fate of the Ukrainian peasantry in those years. But there was little it could or did do to relieve the misery of the starving millions. This book helps us understand why."

Norman Naimark is the Robert and Florence McDonnell Professor of Eastern European Studies at Stanford University. His most recent book is Stalin's Genocides, (Princeton University Press, 2010).

The Holy See and the Holodomor
Edited by
Athanasius D. McVay & Lubomyr Y. Luciuk

PRE-PUBLICATION ORDER FORM

"The Holy See and the Holodomor: Documents from the Vatican Secret Archives on the Great Famine of 1932-1933 in Soviet Ukraine"

@ $25 per copy (includes postage and handling).

Please send me _____ copy(ies) I enclose $ _____

Please send a cheque/international money order (in Canadian or US$)made payable to "The Kashtan Press"

to:

The Kashtan Press,
849 Wartman Avenue,
Kingston, Ontario Canada, K7M 2Y6

Name: _____

Address: _____

City/Province-State/Country _____

Postal/Zip Code/ _____ Email/Phone _____